

Parker Brooks, a conservator and graduate student from Texas A&M University's Conservation Research Laboratory, discusses the role of an elevator screw, at right, which was used to raise and lower the cannon. Photo by Chelsea G. Smith, USACE Savannah District

Field Lab in Savannah, Georgia

