

Marine Archaeologist Jim Duff examines the trunnion cap excavated from the CSS Georgia wreck in 2015. Below is a closeup of the artifact. Below that is an eye for tackle on the gun carriage. Bottom right image shows the locations of a trunnion cap and eye on a cannon carriage. (U.S. Army Corps of Engineers Savannah District)

