

From left: Leg irons covered in concretions, X-rayed, and the replica made from a mold after the concretions were removed. Archaeologists are learning more about Civil War life by piecing together information from CSS Georgia artifacts. U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Savannah District.